bnim ARCHITECTURE

Alyssa Parsons is a Project Architect who has contributed to several high-profile projects at BNIM. Her portfolio includes significant contributions to the Pacific Center Campus Development in San Diego; a Precinct Plan and new parking facility at Washington University; the production of several new high-performance buildings at the Summit Bechtel Scout Reserve; and the new EPA Region 7 Headquarters facility in Lenexa, Kansas. Alyssa is currently working on the adaptive reuse of Westport Middle School into the largest co-working space in the world.
