April Trotter

bnim DESIGN

April Trotter is an Architectural Graduate at the BNIM Kansas City office. April has joined BNIM full time after an internship during school. Since returning she has been working on Westport Commons and multiple projects for the Thunder Valley Master Plan. April graduated with a Master in Architecture from Kansas State University. During school she studied abroad in Italy where she focused on the human body and how it perceives the built environment. Her thesis project was run by Jay Siebenmorgen focusing on rehabilitation and resiliency of the Gowanus Canal. All of April's experience in school has given her a passion for architecture's ability to positively impact the physical and mental environment.
