Matthew Kella

bnim ASSOCIATE | ARCHITECTURE

Matthew is a project designer and Associate in BNIM's Kansas City office. Committed to design excellence, he has established himself as a strong design leader within BNIM through finding elegant solutions from within complex project constraints. Interested in the overlap between people and culture, Matthew brings a foundation of rigorous design exploration to each project that has been formed through multi-disciplinary project experience including civic, cultural, higher-education, mixed-use, office, transit, and master planning. Always seeking to make a human connection through the art and science of architecture, Matthew can move harmoniously through all phases of design – from guiding the principles behind project concepts all the way to their finishing details.

In his time at BNIM, Matthew has positively impacted a number of projects, including multiple Overseas Business Operations projects, two new facilities at Johnson County Community College, the Springfield Art Museum Master Plan, the new Kansas City International (KCI) Airport Parking Garage, and most recently, a new business school facility at Marquette University,
